

FEEDBACK ON BANGALORE SEMINAR BY PARTICIPATING DR. SARIKA NANIVADEKAR

Seminar Venue : Malleshwaram Club, Bangalore. 10 to 12 July 2015

Dear Dr Kaushik,

I am Dr Sarika here from Bangalore. I just wanted to give my feedback regarding your seminar and teachings with live case experiences in Dr. Deepk's clinic.

I am practicing this sensation method since last 10 years and in between was getting introduced a little to the Dr Mahesh Gandhi's module of ego evolution through insight alliance forum, as i was an active member in conversation with other forum members, but could not grasp it much.

But when you started introducing the ego evolution process, developmental stages, I could really flow with it, absorb it and was very satisfied the first day itself. Actually we are totally new to this concept and I feel, this concept is an advanced approach of sensation method or like a post graduation in the sensation method, but very useful to give us a certain vision during case taking and prescribing...an artful vision which teaches us to see beyond...

The concept explanation in seminar went on very well, in a flow, the concept sometimes looks too philosophical, you made it easy with our day to day life examples. We could perceive that you were so imbibed, engrossed so much with the concept that it was just flowing through your speech, and which was easy to grasp us even better than the power points of that subclass or developmental stage. Your hard work, sincerity, lot of patience, lot of experience in practice and mastery over that topic was quite evident.

One more thing which I felt comfortable with is: Your caring nature towards audience/learners and having a sensitive ear for them...this is how I have perceived... you were quite concerned if anybody is having any question or any suggestion and don't want them leave unsatisfied with their queries, trying to satisfy them in each way possible. ..I have attended many seminars but this quality is very rare to find in the speakers. I feel, this establishes a good bond between audience and speaker and a feeling that we are being heard, be of a concern and gives an openness to communicate d queries...

I could not attend all the days in Dr Deepak's clinic, as staying very far and difficult to balance everything from my own clinic and family front, but whatever I could attend the live cases, could give me lot of insights. I attended with you Rosa case, will be the one of the case in my memory... many things to learn. The other cases, watched from other room, were quite difficult to concentrate for me but, when you used to start talking about the whole journey in the case, things were quite convincing. e.g lac equinum, at one point of time I thought of lac can, when she said, husband is the master of he house and if I don't behave according to his wishes, he will stop my shelter and nutrition, but was not knowing much about lac equinum, its theme.

In Ignatia case, father of dr Uma, I liked and appreciated your vision BEYOND which the case was needing, as just taking the data mathematically could have caused lot of confusion.

Dendropsis case was good, but due to lack of time couldn't ask you to which subclass and developmental stage reptile can be related in the chart and out of all reptiles what made to select dendropis only, I believe it is from elapidae family, so if you can answer sometime for this...

Thats why so many times I insisted to record your explanation for the case, when we sit in circle to discuss the case, as it is compact with many more things and will help us in future.

I dont know what happened the last day on thursday and really I have missed much more whatever I couldnt attend. I and our whole group of Dr Deepak are grateful, very thankful to give us a live case taking experience.

So Dr Kaushik, I have narrated whatever I have perceived, as I felt like,.. and I always like to give compliments to anybody for the facts. For me, there is no exaggeration in the above write up but just the frank facts which I have perceived, I dont know how you will take it as... these are my sincere feedback.

You have asked me to write also the things which you need to improve upon, but its like...when we are so fortunate to get all this knowledge, coming all the d way from Mumbai, so its hardly anything to complain of, I dont count for it.... but if you insist, just one thing, initially, 1st day, when people were asking questions, we felt, (we might be completely wrong), you were getting so much swayed away with their questions that we will lag behind in time for the main topic, but afterwards, you gave them a nice criteria to ask Questions only if they are related to that particular stage or SC which you are teaching, that we were happy with.

Its a long narration by me, if taken your lot of time, sorry.

So, by then now, you would have already reached Mumbai and started your routine, but please do remember the Bangalore group and we will await for your next session here... Please acknowledge, and also let me know your experience with our group in Bangalore.

Regards,

Dr. Sarika Nanivadekar
